I ordered the hard copy because I keep notes in the margins, but in the hard copy, there is a sort of "scratch and sniff" device that reveals an activation code that gives a year's access to the writersmarket.com database complete with record-keeping tools and news. Also lists many contact's Twitter feeds which helps to better pitch queries to that person.19 of 20 people found the following review helpful. A fantastic new resourceBy MRCI've been buying and reviewing the Writer's Market series for a few years now, and I love this recent edition. In the past I'd bought the regular, "Writer's Market" books, but I found this concentrated edition much better suited for my needs (short and long creative prose). The listings for literary journals are condensed and much more helpful than other free resources out there (poets writers, the free access to Duotrope). As in past years, all the big markets are here (The Atlantic, The New Yorker, Glimmer Train), but this edition has also introduced me to new markets I didn't know about, a few journals I've admired for years but were listed for the first time like Sequestrum. I haven't dived into the online portion just yet, but I know from past years the online component is updated frequently and is an excellent resource. My only criticism is that there is A LOT of information to sort through, but that's by no means a fault of the editors. It's a big literary world out there. I recommended spending a day taking a highlighter to the markets and agents you're interested in, so once you have something ready you can quickly send it out. 3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. GREAT BOOK! By Ashleen Extremely Helpful! I just finished my first novel and this book was extremely helpful in explaining the process of getting published. I bought this one and the general book. Together I found over 40 agencies to send my novel and learned the difference between Query Letters and several other important submission requirements. I GOT A RESPONSE WITHIN A FEW DAYS BECAUSE OF THIS BOOK!!!!
