Can You Believe It?: A Hilarious Collection of Twisted Facts to Make Your Toes Curl:

A book of disgusting, bizarre, peculiar, and funny facts about anything and everything--literally to make you say "Oh My God!" Did you know that you're more likely to die in an accident involving a sandcastle than you are from a shark bite? Or that a decapitated cockroach can survive without food until it eventually starves to death? If that's not enough to pique your interest, how about the fact that an adult foot produces a quarter cup of sweat per day, that's over two shot glasses full! We're sure your lives are already enriched by these weird and wonderful facts, but what if we were to offer you two hundred more? Well, we've done just that and you have in your hand a collection of some of the funniest, grimmest, grossest, grimiest, bizarre, disgusting, outrageous, and outstanding nuggets of information on the planet. Each one will have you scratching your head in disbelief and laughing out loud at the randomness of it all. So if you've never heard of Miracle Mike, the chicken that survived for 18 months despite not having a head, then take OMG! Can You Believe It? straight to the nearest cash register and buy immediately!

About the Author Caroline West and Mark Latter are a successful editorial and design partnership with over 20 years' experience in the publishing industry. Together they run Blue Dragonfly, a creative consultancy focusing on book production. OMG! Can You Believe It? is the follow up to the fantastic Last Suppers (ISBN 978-1-909313-40-8), a delightfully macabre miscellany looking at the meals enjoyed by the good, the bad and the ugly before they took their last breath.
