Phyllis G. Tortora, Ingrid Johnson : The Fairchild Books Dictionary of Textiles before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Fairchild Books Dictionary of Textiles:

3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. COMPREHENSIVE BUT NO PIXBy P. WoelkDefinitive reference, but disappointing because few pictures. Even my Webster's Dictionary has better illustrations.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. A good reference book for textile and fashion students.By JuliaHoo boy, this is like reading a dictionary of textile terms for "the fashion industry. I am up to the letter F and I would have liked a better sense of the history of the term than simply "obsolete." Still, it seems a very comprehensive and authoritative reference for textile and fashion students.0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy MemeeSo helpful and useful...

The eighth edition of this industry standard for textile terminology is fully revised and expanded featuring approximately 100 new entries and over 14,000 definitions of fibers, fabrics, laws and regulations affecting textile materials and processing, inventors of textile technology, and business and trade terms relevant to textiles. Trademark information has been thoroughly updated to reflect the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office's Trademark Electronic Search System (TESS), and current definitions from the industry associations American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists and American Society for Testing and Materials are included. Fully illustrated with over 400 photographs and line drawings, entries include pronunciation, derivation, definition, and uses. An extensive appendix provides a list of national and international industry associations and organizations. From Abaca to Zyex, The Fairchild Books Dictionary of Textiles contains essential reference information for professionals and scholars involved in the textile industry.

This is a must for any library, group or individual, who is seriously working with textiles at all stages of production and use. Textile Research Centre
