BOOK DETAILS 8.5" x 11" Softcover - 194 Total Pages - Full Color Throughout - Hundreds of Beautiful Color Photos ABOUT THIS BOOK Finally! The final word on Creek Chub by Dr. Harold Smith! A Field Guide to Creek Chub Lures is the culmination of over two decades of research and writing on the Creek Chub Bait Company by Garrett, Indiana's own Dr. Harold Smith. Having grown up down the street from the CCBC factory, Dr. Smith is in a unique position to chronicle Creek Chub history, and this is his final, revised say on the matter. With pictures of well over 1000 baits and collectible items, this book tells the story of the lures, the people that made them, and covers everything a collector needs to determine the value of the baits in their collection. In a condensed format, it can be carried with the collector out into the field searching for more treasures. The book is divided into ten sections - History, Creek Chub Colors, Wooden Lures, Metal Plastic Baits, the Wide Variety of CCBC Lures, Misc. Creek Chub Items, Shur-Strike Lures, ALW, and World Records and Final Notes. Also includes handy Quick Reference Guides covering Lure Numbers, Lure Names, Lure Number Changes, Lure Colors, Creek Chub Officers, Military Stencilings, Gold Embossed Pressed Labels, and Western Auto Numbers. The book is fully indexed. PLEASE NOTE: This book also comes with a separately published 32-page PRICE GUIDE covering the current value of Creek Chub lures and other CCBC items pictured in this book!
