I loved the look of the cook book so much I decided to get the paper to accompany it. Gorgeous paper! Great size. There are 50 sheets and 5 different page designs. The shopping list area is perforated so you can take it shopping with you and keep your menu at home. There is a magnet on the back so you can post your menus on the fridge. It's a strong magnet so it holds extremely well! I recommend this to any menu maker out there. It makes me look forward to making my menus now!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. The photos and illustrations are beautiful, the paper is thick and high-qualityBy Sarah GillisThe photos and illustrations are beautiful, the paper is thick and high-quality, and I like the perforated list. However, the magnet on the back is not strong enough for the weight of the paper, and it often slides down my fridge. I'm sure it will stop as I use up the sheets and it gets lighter, but it's annoying for such an expensive notepad to have that problem. Also, this is very picky, but I feel like it would be helpful if there were two smaller perforated sections as I tend to grocery shop more than once per week (and it's handy to have a section left after shopping for noting things that I run out of during the week).1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Organize your meal planning with this colorful pad!By Jennifer L. FurlongBeautiful resource for meal planning! I love the cheerful illustrations and the perforated shopping list is perfect for getting those key ingredients for the week.Using this meal planner has really helped get me organized and reduce unnecessary return trips to the market.The magnet on the back is great for keeping the whole planning pad on the side of the fridge and big enough that it doesn't slip from the weight.

Showcasing photography and watercolor illustrations from Erin Gleeson's cookbook The Forest Feast, this 50-sheet pad features a Monday-to-Sunday grid for planning weekly meals and a perforated shopping-list section for keeping track of items to buy. The pad has a magnetic back so that it can be displayed on a refrigerator.
