By Benjamin Jenkins
This is a great book to read for young folks, especially teenagers, I remember myself when I was finishing high school, I've had no idea what I wanted to do with my life. This book will not tell you "go and be a lawyer" however it will encourage you to pursue your interests and find your way in the world.

By Bill Bronberg
Short, crisp and instructional! My key take away is that we must have a clear commanding sense of purpose in life. Every one will face a certain stage of life about life-purpose discernment and we ought to find it. This book is definitely helpful.

By Shelly Keen
It's a question that we all ask ourselves in life, and the biggest problem i had holding me back was fear. This short but powerful read opened my eyes to really ask myself some more in-depth questions about where i want to be going with my life. A great read for someone who wants to find their way in life.

If youre trying to figure out what you should do with your life and need a little guidance then this book is for you!
What should I do with my life? is a question that will come up during the course of your lifetime, probably multiple times. It tends to be a difficult question to answer for a few reasons. First, it requires you to assess your self-esteem and take a risk. How big do you dare to dream? Are you seeking out a simple life of comfort, enjoying and being grateful for the smallest of things? Or are you captivated by humanitys most luxurious creations, unwilling to let your life pass you by without taking your shot at the good life? Answering these big questions will help you make some determinations about where you want to live, what industry you want to work in, with whom you wish to associate, and who and when you wish to marry, or if you wish to marry at all. Often, when discerning your lifes purpose, youll find a lot of competing interests. This book was written with the sole purpose of providing you with some guidance along your journey. Here youll find a step-by-step regimen to help you explore your vision for your own life, and take action accordingly. But what are we waiting for? Lets get started!
