Dena Bain Taylor is an experienced teacher of writing and critical skills across the range of allied health professions, and understands the types of writing nursing and midwifery students do and the writing issues they face. Her accessible, straightforward book ? tailored specifically to the content and conventions of nursing and midwifery curricula ? teaches students to write persuasively and correctly, both to support them in their courses and to prepare them for their professional careers.

The book is well conceived with familiar guidance on study skills and the basics of sentence and paragraph structure. It has a chapter on attribution of sources and avoidance of plagiarism, and there is a useful brief review of academic versus professionals writing for the press and for writing presentations.--Bob Price "Cancer Nursing Practice" (09/19/2013) The book is well conceived with familiar guidance on study skills and the basics of sentence and paragraph structure.
